

Each international tax planning process begins with the analysis of the client's company's processes, the current tax regime, the investment choices, to then examine the tax, legal and administrative advantages and eventual disadvantages, and in the end, define the feasibility of the solution being considered.

Studio Santececchi provides a range of solutions for tax efficiency, including the formation of companies in countries with more favourable tax regimes, such as Luxembourg.