

In an increasingly competitive and globalized environment, where productive and commercial multilocalization represents the key element of every strategy of internationalization, it becomes essential to have consultants able to manage the different tax politics in different countries as best as possible. In this sense, Studio Associato Santececchi has developed considerable expertise over the years, which they make available to their clients, always proposing tailored solutions of their corporate processes.