

Bylaws ruling the life of an association or a company is targeted to help its shareholders throughout its life resolving potential disputes or ambiguities in their relationships and setting out precisely the future life and the functionality of the association.

The experience and expertise of the professionals of Studio Associato Santececchi allows them to take care of all matters with reference to the bylaws defining all the activities which may be executed by the client avoiding having to deal with bylaws modifications during the lifetime of the association.