

Crowdfunding or collective financing is a process for which a specific group of people utilise its means in order to sustain the projects of persons, organisations, companies.

It is substantially a microfinancing from the crowd able to collect a great amount of money. There are various typologies of crowdfundings depending on the specific needs.

Studio Associato Santececchi is definitively expert in such a field having had the possibility to render consultancies on the matter.