

Studio Associato Santececchi offers, among the others, advices on trading which is defined as the activity of purchase and/or sale of various financial instruments as shares, bonds, currencies, futures, whose value is listed during the phases of opening of the world stock exchanges. Consultancies are generally focused on fundamental and technical analysis of the various financial instruments.